This spacious and well-maintained townhouse on the historic Charleston peninsula is in a community surrounded by mature trees, and within just a short walk or bike ride to all of the sights, sounds, and attractions of downtown Charleston. The rooms are large and comfortable, the bay windows on both floors provide natural light, and, since this is on a corner lot with a high brick enclosure and beautiful trees as a backdrop, the balcony and brick patio provide a high degree of privacy. And in addition to a spacious interior, there are all of the main conveniences & touches that make a home appealing - living room, main floor guest suite, fireplace, attached garage, lovely master suite, storage and much more. A unique property.
