About The Property

This custom-built home by Philip Smith is located in the gated community of Victory Pointe at Charleston National, and is all about the location and what it offers. Picturesque marsh views to Copahee Sound, the Intracoastal Waterway, Dewees, Isle of Palms and beyond. A dock with a private 5,000 lb boat lift offers creek access out to the Intracoastal. The family room has a wood burning fireplace and access to a large screened porch and deck. The kitchen includes a large butcher block island with a prep sink, bar seating for four and a breakfast nook overlooking the marsh and creek.

First floor main bedroom with a sitting area and access to a deck and screened porch. The second floor offers three more bedrooms with private bathrooms and a den/office/flex room with built-in surround sound. With golf being one of the main features of Charleston National, the Rees Jones course was designed with Augusta National in mind.
